

Little is known about this book or its author save that Robert Young was a Methodist minister who lived from 1796 - 1865. The name Robert Young may lead some to conclude that this is the same as the splendid and laborious work entitled "Young's Analytical Concordance to the Holy Bible," but the preface to that worthy volume was written and published in 1879, fourteen years after this Robert Young had passed away. Young explains his story in the preface, telling how he merely collected specimens of revival literature found in various Magazines, Reviews, Journals, Biographies, Pamphlets, and Manuscripts. It is a worthy addition to any Revival library designed to inspire faith and prayer for fresh showers of blessing in our day.
